Important Notes:

If you have employees over the age of 50 who do NOT wish to contribute the catch-up amount, you must notify your Client Partner. If you do not notify Ahola, employees over 50 whose contributions exceed the standard annual limits will automatically continue deferrals to the higher catch-up contribution limit.

^Additional 'super' catch-up may apply to employees aged 60-63, but only if the established plan allows under the Secure Act 2.0.

++Plan limits and catch-up amounts may differ for certain Applicable Simple plans under the Secure Act 2.0.

Under the Secure Act 2.0, retirement plan Catch-Up contributions for highly paid individuals (HPI) age 50 and over must be made on a Roth (after- tax) basis starting in 2026.This rule applies to 401(k), 403(b), and governmental 457(b) retirement plans.

IMPORTANT: Employees should NOT enter their Roth Catch-Up election under the normal "Roth 401k" deduction. The "Roth 401k" deduction is for the standard 401(k) amounts only (up to $24,500 in 2026). There is a separate "401K-HPI" code in isolved for the Roth Catch-Up contributions. The "401K-HPI" code will automatically be activated after an HPI employee reaches the standard 401(k) limit for the year. isolved will automatically change the deduction code to the "401K-HPI" Roth Catch-Up code for qualified HPI Roth catch-up contributions.

2027 MINIMUM WAGE

The 2027 Federal Minimum Wage is $7.25 per hour

Ohio, as well as several other states, will have Minimum Wage increases that go into effect on 1/1/2027

- In Ohio, smaller employers with annual gross receipts of less than $419,000 per year after January 1, 2027 ($405,000 in 2026) must pay no less than the Federal Minimum Wage to their non-tipped employees, rather than Ohio minimum wage

- Also in Ohio, employees under the age of 16 must be paid no less than the Federal Minimum Wage rate, rather than Ohio minimum wage

Like Ohio, many other states have different rules governing the payment of minimum wage, with number of employees, gross receipts, or other factors affecting the minimum rate that must be paid to employees. It is always best to confirm the rules that govern minimum wage in any state you may have workers, by checking the Department of Labor website for the most current wage information.

For State Minimum Wage changes, as well as rules governing minimum wage, visit the Department of Labor website:

Frequently Asked Questions

Year-End Preparations

Q: What can I do to ensure our W-2s and Year-End tax documents are correct?

A: As an Ahola Client, you have access to a variety of reports to assist you in preparation for Year-End. We highly encourage you to review these reports and verify the accuracy of the information prior to Year-End reports and W-2s being created. These reports can be found under Client Reports. Use the Report Category filter to select Quarterly/Year-End Reports. The reports we suggest you review are below. Please contact your Client Partner for additional assistance.

*Employee W2 Preview
*Employee W2 Verification
W2 Reconciliation Summary
YTD Register with Employer Taxes
Tax Liability Summary by Quarter
Tax Liability Summary
Tax ID and Rate Verification
SSN Verification Report
Year-End Exceptions

*These reports can also be found in your Payroll Reports Archive.

Q: What else can I do to prepare for a successful year-end?

A: Encourage employees to activate and utilize Employee Self-Service (ESS) accounts to review their information and receive their pay stubs and W2 forms. Employees who use ESS and consent to electronic delivery of year-end forms will have access to their forms sooner than printed copies, and they will have the ability to upload forms directly to Turbo Tax if they choose to do so.

Review accuracy of the status of your employees, as incorrect employment statuses can affect various reportings. Be sure you are using status designations such as ‘Inactive’ properly. Employees should be coded as ‘Inactive’ only if there are solid plans for them to return to work for your company. Some examples would be employees out on temporary medical leave, those that are serving an active military duty obligation (Reserves, etc.) or seasonal employees, such as college students, who have indicated they intend to return for the upcoming ‘season’. Employees that have left your company with no current plans to return should be listed as Terminated. If they could be rehired, be sure to mark them as ‘Eligible for Rehire’ so they can be reactivated and rehired easily upon return. Inactive and Terminated employee information is still stored in isolved and is not purged based on status.

Frequently Asked Questions

Fringe Benefits, Bonuses, Third-Party Sick Pay, HSA

Q: When do I need to send Fringe Benefits, Year-End information or Bonus amounts to Ahola?
A: Fringe Benefits, Year-End information, and/or Bonuses should be submitted with, or prior to, your last payroll of 2026.

Q: How should I submit my Fringe Benefits to Ahola for processing?
A: All Fringe Benefits should be submitted to Ahola in writing. This can be in the form of an email or fax. Please contact your Client Partner with any questions regarding Fringe Benefits or additional payroll runs. Be sure to include your company name and Ahola client identification number in all communications.

Q: I normally process my own payroll. Can Ahola still help me with the entry of Fringe Benefits?
A: We are happy to assist with Fringe Benefits and encourage all clients to submit fringes for review prior to processing. Whether it is a question about how to enter additional wages, setting up a new wage type, or submitting information to Ahola for entry, your Client Partner is here to support you and ensure that your additional information is reported correctly.

Q: I have a large Bonus run - is there anything special that needs to be done?
A: If you will be submitting a large payroll Bonus run, or combination of runs, where the gross wages are in excess of $300,000, contact your Client Partner prior to submitting or processing the payroll. Tax payments associated with these large runs often have accelerated due dates and may require additional action, including the wiring of funds. In addition, payroll runs with impound amounts that are significantly higher than normal may require additional review and potentially additional action on the client's part, including but not limited to, pre-funding payroll with a wire transfer. Please be sure to speak with your Client Partner before processing any larger-than-normal payroll runs.

Q: Can I process Bonus checks separately from my regular payroll run?
A: Yes, contact your Client Partner to request an additional “Special” run schedule.

Q: What is the last date I can process adjustments for 2026 to avoid possible tax penalties?
A: December 29, 2026. Any adjustment runs processed after this date may incur penalties for late payment of tax funds and will require written acknowledgment that the client is responsible for any interest and/or penalties that may be incurred by the late filing of tax funds.

Frequently Asked Questions

Fringe Benefits, Bonuses, Third-Party Sick Pay, HSA

Continued

Q: What is the last date I can process an adjustment without amended returns?
A: Clients must submit all corrections and wage adjustments by January 5, 2027. Adjustments received after this date will be processed after W-2s have been filed electronically. These late adjustments will require amended tax returns and will incur additional fees. Clients that need to process Third-Party information for Sick Pay payments made to employees may need to contact their insurance company in December to request early issuance of summary statements to comply with this deadline.

Q: When is the last date to submit Third-Party Sick Pay information to Ahola?
A: January 5, 2027. If you have not already done so, please contact your Third-Party Benefits broker to request that your summary statement be sent to you as soon as possible. If you have employees who have received Third-Party Sick Pay this year, but you have not yet reported these amounts, please notify your Client Partner as soon as possible in order to enter these amounts, ideally prior to your last payroll processing in 2026.

Q: We offer Health Savings Accounts (HSA) that the company contributes to. These accounts are not run through payroll. Does Ahola need to know about this?
A: Yes. All contributions to Health Savings Accounts (HSA) including those made by the employer need to be shown on Form W-2. If your employee, or employer matching contributions are not run through the payroll, please contact your Client Partner before December 29, 2026. Ahola will ensure this information is shown in the appropriate W-2 box.

> Note: Health Savings Accounts (HSA) have government-mandated contribution limits based on plan type, as well as the employee's age. Employers should audit employee contributions to ensure that employees have not contributed amounts over the allowable limits based on plan type and catch-up amounts, if applicable. If you require an audit report to verify your employee contributions, please contact your Client Partner to request a Deduction Register Summary for HSA contributions (made through payroll.)

Frequently Asked Questions

W-2s and 1099s

IRS requires employers to provide each employee with a timely copy of their Year-End Forms. These can be printed, or electronic with employee consent. Ahola is able to accommodate both printed and electronic delivery of Year-End Forms. As we continue to improve our processes and offer new and efficient ways for you and your employees to access your information, Ahola continues to progress toward paperless Year-End reporting and increased usage of Employee Self-Service. For more information about the capabilities, as well as ease and efficiency of ESS, electronic forms, or digital report retrieval, contact your Client Partner.

Q: Will you be printing and delivering my W-2s and 1099s?

A: Not necessarily. For all clients (regardless of print service) employees that consent to receive their forms electronically will not generate a physical printed form. If all employees consent to electronic delivery, there will be no physical forms to print. Clients can elect Print Back electronic delivery (no print service), as all year-end forms will be available to employees via Employee Self-Service (ESS). Physical copy forms for terminated and non-consenting employees for Print Back clients are printed by the employer at their location.
Some employer reports will be available only electronically (Form W-3, Employer Copy W-2).

Q: What if some of my employees do not consent to electronic delivery?

A: You can print and distribute paper forms for any non-consenting employees at your location, or Ahola will print and deliver them to you, though additional fees may apply for delivery and printed packages. IRS requires that employers provide printed copies of employee Year-End Forms for employees who do not consent to electronic delivery.

Q: How are terminated employees handled with regard to consent to electronic delivery?

A: Employees that have consented to electronic delivery of year-end forms but are terminated in the payroll system with or before the last payroll processing of the year will have their consent automatically revoked when they terminate. Terminated employees may re-consent to electronic delivery but would have to access their self-service account to consent after the termination has been processed through the payroll system. In most cases, the automatic revocation of consent will produce print copies of W-2 forms for terminated employees. While they will be able to access year-end forms through ESS, employers are still obligated to furnish a print copy to these former employees.

Q: I would like to offer electronic delivery of Year-End forms to my employees. How do I get started?

A: Contact your Client Partner. They will be happy to assist you in getting set up with electronic Year-End forms.

Frequently Asked Questions

W-2s and 1099s

Continued

Q: How can I tell which employees have consented to electronic copies of their year-end forms?

A: There are a few different ways to tell which employees have elected electronic forms:

1. The Electronic Elections screen will allow you to see an overview of employees and their Year-End forms delivery status, including consent dates and employment status (Employee Admin Tools >> Employee Analytics >> Electronic Elections)
2. On an individual employee basis, Electronic Consent documents for Electronic Signature, as well as Electronic Tax Forms Delivery (both consent and declination) are available to view in Employee Documents (Employee Management >> Human Resources >> Employee Documents)
3. The report called Year-End W2/1099 Employee List is available in your Payroll Report Archive, usually beginning with payrolls processed in November. This report lists employees' consent or declination date, and their employment status and indicates printed or electronic form W-2. This report is also available to be generated as needed from the Client Reports catalog.

Q: When will W-2s be delivered or available electronically?

A: We expect electronic copies will be available well before printed copies. Employees consenting to receive their forms electronically will receive an email notification when the forms are available. Paper copy forms are anticipated to be printed and delivered on or about January 22, 2027.

Q: I will be printing my own W-2 forms for employees not consenting to electronic copies. When will I have access to print these forms?

A: This date will vary based on each client's year-end status, but we expect clients to be able to print between January 11 and January 15, 2027.

Q: Where can I find more information or instructions on how to print Year-End reports?

A: Help documents can be found on the Year-End Resources page of the Ahola website. This page can be accessed through the Quick Links section of the Client Landing page in isolved or directly from the Learning Center tab at ahola.com. Your Client Partner is also an excellent resource for assistance and/or documentation to help you.

Frequently Asked Questions

W-2s and 1099s

Continued

Q: If employees who elect electronic delivery are not included in the 'print' report for W-2s, where can I see all of the W-2s that were issued to my employees?
A: The employer copy report (W-2 Copy D Employer) will contain copies of all employees' W-2 forms, including those that elect electronic forms. Forms for employees that received them electronically will appear with a watermark 'ESS Copy Only'. The Employer copy report can be viewed in the Year-End Report Archive.

Q: If Ahola prints Year-End forms, where will they be delivered?
A: W-2s will be delivered to the Year-End address indicated for your account. Contact your Client Partner to confirm or change the delivery address.

Q: Where do I find employer information returns such as the Employer Copy of Form W-2 and Form W-3?
A: Employer copies of W-2s, as well as other Year-End reports such as the W-3 summary, will be available to view or print from the Year-End Report Archive.

Q: Where can I find other employer information returns such as Federal 941, Unemployment, or other Reconciliation forms or statements?
A: Many other informational tax forms can be found in your Return Archive (Reporting >> Return Archive). Be sure to select the correct year and quarter you desire from the filter dropdowns, then click the 'filter' button for results.

Q: In what order will W-2s and/or 1099s be printed?
A: The print order for these reports is alphabetical by Employee's Last Name. If you prefer your printed W-2s and/or 1099s sorted by department or employee number, please contact your Client Partner prior to your last payroll processing of the year to change your sort order.

Q: When do W-2s have to be delivered to my employees?
A: W-2s must be available electronically or in paper copies postmarked by February 1, 2027.

Frequently Asked Questions

W-2s and 1099s

Continued

Q: What can I do to avoid reprocessing W-2s?

A: Review employee addresses and other personal information for all employees. Audit employee work locations and residence tax withholdings for accuracy. Contact your Client Partner for assistance in updating any missing or incorrect information prior to your last payroll processing of the year.

Q: What happens if I need a corrected and reprocessed W-2?

A: Please notify your Client Partner as soon as possible of any necessary corrections. Additional fees may apply for reprocessing due to incorrect employee information (Social Security number or incomplete name). Amendment charges may apply, dependent on timing if reporting has already been filed with IRS or other taxing agencies. Additional shipping fees may also apply.

Q: How can I avoid reprint charges for lost or misplaced W-2s?

A: Employers and employees can access and reprint forms online at any time for free using Employee Self-Service or Year End Report Archive. Lost or damaged W-2s can be reprinted by Ahola for $25.00 each + shipping.

Q: Are terminated employees able to view W-2s through Employee Self-Service?

A: Yes, if you have allowed terminated employee access. If you would like to confirm or change your access settings for terminated employees, please contact your Client Partner. Keep in mind that terminated employees' consent for electronic delivery is automatically revoked when they are terminated in isolved and will no longer apply unless they have consented again after termination. Employers are still responsible for furnishing a printed copy to any employees that have not consented to receive forms electronically. While forms may be available to view online, they must still receive a print copy if they have not specifically consented to online only.

Q: What is the best way to manage terminated or inactive employee records?

A: The end of the year is a great time to clean up your database and remove any inactive or terminated employees that are still listed as "active" on your account. Terminating or inactivating employees will save you time when entering payroll or completing time entry sheets. Terminated and Inactive employee data remains in our system, and employees can easily be reactivated if they should return to work.

Frequently Asked Questions

W-2s and 1099s

Continued

Q: We plan to file our own W-2s this year. Our company does not want Ahola to file them electronically – what do we need to do?
A: Please send your request via email to yearend@ahola.com. Requests must be received by December 14, 2026.

Q: Does Ahola file reconciliations and W-2 copies for all Ohio residential city tax withholding?
A: Ahola files for all Ohio cities that require residential filing. Currently, RITA and CCA cities as well as Amherst, Parma, Columbus, and Jefferson require residential filings. Ahola does not automatically file reconciliations for any other independent cities. However, should a client receive a request or notice to file a residential reconciliation, Ahola will provide this at the client's request.

Q: How will Ohio resident tax wages display on the W-2 for 2026?
A: The taxable wage amounts for Ohio resident city withholding will not display on Form W-2. Box 18 will not display wages for the resident city, only taxable wages for work location cities will be displayed here. Box 19 will display the amount of tax withheld for the resident tax city, as well as tax amounts withheld for any work locations.

Q: Are you generating 1099-NEC forms for our company?
A: If 1099 payments have been run through payroll all year, and the amount of the payment to the contractor or entity exceeds $2000, 1099 forms will be generated. 1099/Subcontractor payments not processed through payroll are the responsibility of the client. We anticipate sending printed 1099s on or about January 22, 2027.

Q: When do I need to have 1099s delivered or electronically available to subcontractors?
A: 1099s must be available electronically or postmarked by February 1, 2027.

Q: Who should I contact with additional questions about Year-End?
A: Your dedicated Client Partner can assist you with any questions about year-end and is happy to assist you to ensure your year-end reporting is accurate.

Frequently Asked Questions

Retirement Plans

Q: Several of my employees who participate in the company's retirement plan are over 50 and would like to contribute the catch-up amount - will their contributions continue up to the full catch-up limit automatically?

A: Yes, as long as employees have accurate date-of-birth information listed in our system, eligible employee deferrals will continue to the higher catch-up limit unless requested otherwise.

Q: How does the Secure Act 2.0 affect our highly compensated employees over the age of 50?

A:Under the Secure Act 2.0, retirement plan Catch-Up contributions for highly paid individuals (HPI) age 50 and over must be made on a Roth (after- tax) basis starting in 2026.This rule applies to 401(k), 403(b), and governmental 457(b) retirement plans.

- For 2026, highly paid individuals (HPI) are those who had FICA wages over $150,000 in 2025 (in Box 3 of their 2025 Form W-2).

IMPORTANT NOTE: For newly-hired HPI employees or clients that are new to Ahola in 2026, 'Highly Paid' employees that do not have prior-year pay history in isolved must be manually designated as HPI. Please contact your Client Partner for assistance in properly designating these individuals to ensure correct reporting and catch-up handling.

Q: How do I ensure that highly-paid employees (HPI) over the age of 50 have their catch-up contributions handled correctly?

A: Per the Internal Revenue Service, catch-up contributions do not begin until after the standard 401(k) limit is reached. (In 2026 the standard limit is $24,500). The programming in isolved follows the same rule. The standard deferral limit is met first. Then, Catch-Up contributions begin after the standard deferral limit has been met.

- Employees who want to take advantage of Catch-Up contributions should make sure that their regular 401(k) election (percent or flat dollar amount per pay period) is high enough to reach the standard 401(k) limit plus the desired Catch-Up for the year.
- If needed, employees should increase their 401(k) percentage or flat dollar election on their regular 401(k) deduction (even if the regular deduction is a pre-tax 401(k) election).
- Consult your dedicated Client Partner before making deduction changes for mandatory Roth Catch-Up amounts.

Frequently Asked Questions

Retirement Plans

Continued

- IMPORTANT: Employees should NOT enter their Roth Catch-Up election under the normal "Roth 401k" deduction. There is a separate "401K-HPI" code in isolved for the Roth Catch-Up contributions. The "401K-HPI" code will automatically be activated after an HPI employee reaches the standard 401(k) limit for the year. isolved will automatically change the deduction code to the "401K-HPI" Roth Catch-Up code for qualified HPI Roth catch-up contributions.
- If an HPI employee had a Form W-2 created by Ahola in the prior year, the program will access the employee's FICA wages to determine if the individual is an HPI. If an HPI employee did not have a Form W-2 created by Ahola in the prior year (e.g., new hires or new clients to Ahola), please notify your dedicated Client Partner to code the employee as an HPI.

Q: My company is issuing Bonus checks this year. Can my employees request no retirement plan withholdings from these checks?
A: Please consult your plan document or contact your third-party administrator to verify permitted wage exclusions. Some plans require deferrals to be calculated on all paid wages, and exclusion of certain wage types may cause compliance issues.

- you are considered an Affiliated Large Employer by your association with other related companies,
